The World is Watching

As we prepare for our second annual World Elder Abuse Awareness Day on June 15th in Geneva, we pause to acknowledge and celebrate INPEA's Tenth Anniversary. Memories of that first meeting in Adelaide are bittersweet as we commemorate our founding members; the marvelous Rosalie Wolf, the gentle Gerry Bennett, the caring Anne Angel. How proud they would be at what we have accomplished, how much we owe to their leadership, how important that we never forget their legacy... They laid the foundation; we must continue to build on that.

The WEAAD program for Geneva has been finalized and is available on the website. It is heartening that so many INPEA members are able to travel to Geneva and have the opportunity to present their work. The panelists have chose topics that are both challenging and controversial. They will be sharing their papers with you, so please check out the website.

This issue of the Bulletin describes some of the activities taking place across the world to raise awareness about elder abuse. The range of projects is awesome; every conceivable method of communication will be used. Inspiring, whimsical, delightful, they will capture your imagination and motivate you to replicate some of the ideas, if not this year, then next. Briefly, examples include; marches, vigils, conferences, symposia, press briefings, youth activities and media events. Please write and tell us your experiences... The Evaluation forms included at the end of this bulletin is not long. We ask that you complete it while initiatives are fresh in your memory. Your comments will build on our data base for WEAAD 2008. Thank you for doing this. We all want to see World Day as a gateway to resources on elder abuse, neglect and exploitation... In order to synthesize our information we request that all reports flow through the National Representatives and that all events in INPEA's name should be coordinated with the National and Regional Representatives.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY, INPEA!
and HAPPY WORLD DAY EVERYONE !!!

WEAAD AROUND THE WORLD

Japan

The Japanese Committee of INPEA and the Japan Academy for the Prevention of Elder Abuse (JAPEA) will jointly host an event to observe the World Elder Abuse Awareness Day (WEAAD) on June 15th 2007.

The event will take place at the Ikebukuro Campus of Shukutoku University in Tokyo, from 10:00 am to 12:00 noon, and will feature several prominent speakers, including Dr. Takeshi Sasaki, Office of Services for People with Dementia, Health Planning Division, Health and Welfare Bureau for the Elderly, the Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare; Dr. Kinuko Takasaki, President of JAPEA and Professor, the University of the Air in Chiba; Mr. Soji Tanaka, a member of the Board of Directors for JAPEA and Professor, Nihon University College of Humanities and Sciences in Tokyo; Ms. Yoko Shido, Secretary General for the International Longevity Center (ILC) – Japan; and Dr. Toshio Tataru, a member of the Board of Directors for INPEA in charge of the Asian Region and Professor, Shukutoku University Graduate School of Integrated Human and Welfare Studies in Chiba. Dr. Noriko Tsukada, Executive Director for the Japanese Committee of INPEA and Professor, Nihon University Graduate School of Business in Tokyo, will moderate the event, along with Dr. Tataru.

Given that Japan's Elder Abuse Prevention and Caregiver Support Law has been in effect since April 2006, this year's event is going to review the accomplishments of the law, to date and will discuss plans to continue to improve efforts to combat elder abuse in Japan.

Working together to advance the human rights of older Victorians

Friday 15 June 2007
Jasper Hotel, 489 Elizabeth St,
Melbourne, Ph: 8327 2777
(Melway ref: 2B, C12)

A human rights based approach is central to preventing and responding to situations of abuse involving older people. The recently enacted Victorian Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities places renewed emphasis on this issue. However, how do professionals and services ensure that their approaches empower older people? This forum offers an opportunity for professionals and organizations to share practice wisdom, and identify pathways to work collaboratively in advancing the human rights of older Victorians in situations of abuse.

The seminar and workshop will focus on how local networks can promote more coordinated and effective approach to preventing elder abuse. This event will be of interest to service providers including: community legal centres, family violence services, centres against sexual assault, police, primary health services, acute and sub acute health services, aged mental health services and community services.

Presentations will include:

- Human rights and older people – Janet Wood, Former Chair of the Ministerial Advisory Council of Senior Victorians
- Working within a Human Rights framework – Deb Pietsch, Human Resources Unit, Department of Human Services
- A culture of collaboration: Lessons in networking – The Redcliffe project, Dr Deborah Setterlund, University of Queensland
- Assessing risk in family violence – Rhonda Cumberland, Family Violence Coordination Unit, Dept. of Victorian Communities
- The changing legal landscape for older people – Robert Phillips, Solicitor and Elder law consultant

Discounted parking and accommodation is available. For details and to register for this free event click here by 12th June 2007. Places are limited so book early. Enquires to Current Events 9596 4333.

The Gambia

The Association for the prevention of elder abuse will join the rest of the world on June 15th, 2007 to celebrate the 2nd Annual WEAAD.

This day has been set aside to hold events designed to raise awareness in our different communities about elder abuse, in support of international plan of Action on ageing which recognizes the significance of elder abuse as a public health and human right issue.

Ageing is Everyone's future

The Association for the prevention of elder abuse was established to complement government's effort in addressing the needs and welfare of elders in The Gambia.

Activities lined up this year include, Launching of Youths For Elders Club, to create awareness on the prevention of elder abuse, to bridge the gap between Youths and Elders and to encourage and facilitate moral teaching in schools in order to recognize and prevent elder abuse in whatever setting it occurs, so that in the later years of life will be free from abuse, neglect and exploitation.

Youths are not left out in this important event, as they are the ones to a major role, as they are the future leaders, realizing that this noble objective lies in their hands.

We also urge non-governmental organizations, educational institutions, religious groups,

Professionals in the field of Ageing to join the association for the prevention of elder abuse (TAPEA) to promote a better understanding of abuse and neglected elders by supporting us organizing workshops in schools throughout the country to raise awareness of the cultural, social, economic and demography processes effect on elder abuse and neglect.

The Association, request and appeal to organizations individuals who are interested in sponsoring this event to kindly contact the president of the Association (Priscilla Jones) on 002209945587 or James C. Nwodo 002209955362 or email thegambiaapea@yahoo.com.

"Defenseless when old? Strategies against violence in older people's close relationships"

A report on a conference and an expert symposium held in Hanover, Germany, June 14th and 15th, 2006

At the heart of Germany's WEAAD activities 2006 was the topic of older people's experiences of violence and abuse in close personal relationships. A conference and an expert symposium – both funded by the German Federal Ministry for Family, Seniors, Women and Youth - were organized by Hanover-based Criminological Research Institute of Lower Saxony and Zoom - Society for Prospective Developments (Goettingen). About 150 people attended the full-day conference.

The conference and the symposium focused upon two topics:

- (a) Experiences of violence in older women's marriages and partnerships
- (b) Abuse and neglect of older people by family caregivers and by nurses from in-home services.

The conference made clear that older female victims of intimate violence represent a special needs population. It showed the importance of facilitating victims' access to shelters, helplines etc. Domestic violence institutions will have to actively widen the circle for older victims. With regard to incidents of abuse and neglect in domestic care, a differentiation of services is necessary – giving support and advice to those who do not wish to hurt their loved ones but are stressed and overburdened and deterring those who prey on the most vulnerable older adults. It was clear that dementia caregiving represents a very special field and that elder abuse prevention urgently needs more interagency cooperation.

A detailed report (in German language) has been compiled. It contains the papers presented at the conference as well as summaries of the discussions and a short concluding essay. The following papers are included in full:

Thomas Goergen (Hanover): Violence in older people's close relationships: Preliminary results of the study "Crime and violence in older people's lives"

Barbara Naegele (Goettingen): Domestic violence in old age – the specific situation of older female victims of violence

Claudia Schacke (Berlin): Abuse of older care recipients by intimates

Rolf Hirsch (Bonn): Violence in older people's close relationships: What kind of prevention is possible? What kind of help do victims need?

The conference report can be downloaded at <http://kfn.de/versions/kfn/assets/mfp2.pdf>.

Germany – 2007

Our main WEAAD activity this year will be a press conference on elder abuse / elder abuse prevention on June 13th, 2007 at the site of the so-called "Federal Press Conference" in Berlin.

Participants (in alphabetical order):

Dr. Thomas Goergen, psychologist, elder abuse researcher at Criminological Research Institute of Lower Saxony, Hanover

Prof. Dr. Dr. Rolf Hirsch, psychologist and geriatrician; head physician of the department of geriatric psychiatry and psychotherapy at "Rheinische Kliniken" (Rhine Clinics), founder and head of "Handeln statt Misshandeln" (Action instead of abuse), Bonn

Gabriele Tammen-Parr, founder and director of "Pflege in Not" ("Care in state of emergency"), Berlin

Gabriele Walentich, public prosecutor, has been working extensively on the topic of elder abuse with the Crime Prevention Council of Northrhine-Westphalia, Duesseldorf.

We hope for strong press participation and subsequent good media coverage. On the days around June 15th, we will be available for interviews / media contacts.

Further, over the last few months, I have been talking with our Federal Ministry responsible for Senior Citizen Affairs. They are going to release a press statement on World Elder Abuse Awareness Day and on the government's perspective on elder abuse topics in the days before June 15th.

République Togolaise

On June 15, 2007 there is a full day programme to promote awareness of elder abuse by INPEA in Togo.

Beginning at 7h30 a.m. with a reception and greeting, participants will then be introduced to INPEA, and be presented with an opportunity to join the organization.

We have two main communication themes for the day. The first is "To Pay One's Respect to Our Elders" and the second is "Affection and Welfare for Elders." Each of these will be presented and then debated and discussed by the participants. Finally, there will be a discussion about the possibility of building a leisure centre for both elders and young persons (an elders and young people house).

We would also like to include elements about the history of INPEA during the presentation of the organization. If you have any suggestions or recommendations for us we would sincerely appreciate it!

Peru

Dear all,

Good news! The National Commission about Ageing in Peru, has assumed the campaign! It means that all the ministers, the NGO's, the older associations, specially Anamper - a national network of older people, and also the Municipality of Lima, will participate together in a central ceremony at which INPEA has been ask to give some words. The Mayor of Lima, The Minister of Woman and Social Development, and PAHO,-will also participate in the central ceremony. HelpAge International has also been invited.

June 15th in Peru: Great National Rally Called "Against the Abuse of the Elderly"

This year a transcendental step has been taken in favor of good treatment of the elderly in Peru. The Multisectorial Commission to implement the National Plan on Aging approved a call for a public rally to raise awareness about abuse of the elderly. One of the most enthusiastic organizations is ANAMPER, the National Association of the Elderly. This commission is composed of: Ministry of Labor, of Education, of Health, of Agriculture, of Economy; the Social Security Administration; the National Assembly of Universities, networks of the civil society: Mesa Peru; Consorcio Peru; and ANAMPER among others, will have a ceremony in the Alcedo Salon of the Municipality of Lima. The speakers will be the Mayor of Lima; the Minister for Women and Social Development, the organization in charge of policies on aging; representatives of INPEA, HelpAge International, and a representative of the elderly. A conference by the OPS will also take place in the program. The event will feature a cultural act by representatives of the elderly, who will present songs, dances and poetry.

In addition, local and regional governments, associations of the elderly and others, will present events in their towns to raise awareness, such as walks, information on elimination of abuse of the elderly and information on their rights. The theme chosen is "For the Dignity of the Elderly" and all the ministries and participating organizations will wear lilac ribbons as a symbol of the campaign. The program will be publicized on the web site of the ministries and through press releases, and a poster is being prepared.

India

Invitation for Symposium on “World Elder Abuse Awareness Day” , 15TH JUNE 2007, New Delhi , India

Greetings from Anugraha. As you are aware, Anugraha is a national NGO, dedicated to the cause of empowerment & development of the underprivileged. An advocate for the well being of older persons, the organization is committed to providing a forum for ageing issues. Anugraha is a member of the “State Council On Older Persons”, Delhi & has contributed actively to the formulation of the State Policy.

As you are aware, the abuse and neglect of older persons is a complex and multi-faceted problem. Anugraha has received several requests from Senior Citizens Associations to organise a discussion on issues & challenges related to abuse of the elderly in Delhi. This aims at evolving effective interventions in association with and inputs from different experts and stakeholders. A need has been felt to bring together Govt. organizations, NGOs, senior citizens, social activists, researchers, to discuss and deliberate on this important issue concerning the senior citizens.

In recent times, society is witnessing withering of the joint family system, as a result of which a large number of parents are not being looked after by their children. Many older persons, particularly widowed women are now forced to spend their twilight years all alone, having been abandoned by their children.

To address these problems being faced by the parents and the elderly, the Ministry of Social Justice & empowerment, GOI proposed "Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Bill - 2007" which inter-alia contains provisions for providing maintenance to the parents and senior citizens by their families.

Keeping this in view, Anugraha, in association with and support from United Nations Information Center is organizing a Symposium on “World Elder Abuse Awareness Day” on 15th June 2007. Please find enclosed the details of the programme.

Shri Tejender Khanna, Hon’ble Lt. Governor of Delhi has kindly consented to be the Chief guest and deliver the inaugural address. The proceedings and the views expressed in this symposium will be Edpublished in form of a booklet and circulated widely.

The venue will be the UN HALL, UN building, Lodi Estate, New Delhi.

Thanking you,
Sincerely,
Dr. Aabha Chaudhary

CONFLICT IN CAMEROON

Tribal conflict in Cameroon renders hundreds of elderly people homeless and vulnerable

In Africa, elder abuse often occurs in the form of extreme injustice and vulnerability, when a consequence of tribal conflict - as happened recently near Bamenda, the north-west provincial capital of Cameroon. Threats between inhabitants of the neighbouring villages of Bali Nyongha and Bawock, based on claims by the Bali Nyonghas that the land occupied by the Bawocks is their ancestral land and that the Bawock Traditional Ruler and his people have been constantly provoking the Bali people.

Bali Nyongha has an elderly peoples’ dance called the “Leila,” which is performed once a year and gives the dancers a cultural identity. It is mainly performed by people age 60 years and over and at the end of the year, as it is believed that elders usher in blessings on the land for the New Year.

While the Bali Nyonghas were preparing for their Leila dance in November 2006, the Bawock people planned to disrupt the dance and set part of the Bali Nyongha royal palace where elders perform their traditional rites alight. Tension mounted from then on between the two villages and culminated in clashes on March 6, 2007.

A team of INPEA Cameroon headed by Nerissa RINGNYU BONKO, a volunteer community nurse from the national office of the Regional Centre for the Welfare of Ageing Persons in Cameroon (RECEWAPEC), visited the site and came upon a camp where some of the victims of the clashes had taken refuge. The team identified 70 elderly persons in this camp, who are homeless and extremely vulnerable. The Government of Cameroon is doing its best to see that thousands of child victims in the camp go to school, while INPEA Cameroon and other NGOs are seeking a solution for the elderly victims.

ELDER ABUSE IN RUSSIA

Domestic elderly abuse - one of the most latent problems of the Russian society

Domestic violence to the elderly persons - one of the most latent problems of the Russian society.

Today many people speak about women and children, becoming victims of aggression of members of household; at a level of the state the target programs are accepted, intended to resist to this phenomenon.

But about the old men and old women, injured of own children and grandsons hands, many people speak very little. They are not protected by the law.

Unfortunately, nowadays neither judicial nor the state statistics do not fix crimes against elderly persons, therefore to give the objective data all over Russia is not obviously possible.

According to the Russian mass-media we have the sensational cases (www.PNP.ru/archive/17770122.html). Here it is one of the cases which was brought before the Slavyansk-on Kuban court: demanding from the parents some money for a potion, the drug addict son killed well known and respect in the district his old father and his old mother.

In Novititarovskay stanitsa a twenty-years-old girl strangled with the help of a textile fabric belt her aunt who had took legal advice into law enforcement bodies with her application about the constant her niece's terror.

The similar crime reports are daily. And in fact murders, beatings after which older persons get in the hospitals, becoming invalids, - only a part of problems of a quiet, worthy old age. Frequently trustful old men and women find themselves without a roof above a head – their relatives simply hand over them in the boarding house or in the social - rehabilitation centers of temporary residing.

One of such social-rehabilitation centers - "Care" having the stationary and night department for 200 person is found in accordance with the decisions of the Government of the Russian Federation "On measures for the development of a network of establishments of the social help for the persons who have found themselves in extreme conditions without a certain residence". Here there are a lot thrown elderly.

The deserved lawyer of Kuban, the judge of one of the districts of Krasnodar court Alla Kodash, for her 25-years experience of work tried to defense her elderly ascertains:

- The grand daughter is judged with the grandmother because of several meters of a living space, the son pretends to a small personal plot of his father - invalid, an only safe-valve of the old man.

All these situations in our turned life has become ordinary, - Alla Haritonovna says.

- And what special law in protection for aged will we make? Militia? Court? Frequently older persons simply hesitate themselves to address in these instances. The problem of violence itself in relation to the elderly in family, perhaps, is so great, that is momentary any panacea we will not find.

One is obvious - it is necessary to solve a problem not at an individual level, and at a level of a society as a whole.

Natalia Kivokurtseva, the head of the "Nicka Center" says: More than forty per cent of the older persons, aspiring to live in a house for aged, named one of the reasons to be there - domestic violence. And not necessarily physical. Today old men experience both psychological pressure and economic and even sexual.

In Chelyabinsk the second Inter-regional scientific-practical conference «Innovations in the system of family trouble» established that now almost 40 % of all heavy violent crimes in Russia were made in the family. The amount of the infringements of the law which have the most different forms, grows from year to year, thus the tendency of increasing of the cases of cruel treatment with older persons is precisely traced (<http://che.best-city.ru/news/?id=822>).
